A car-truck crash on Highway 67 about four miles east of Hope during a driving rainstorm late Saturday resulted in the deaths of two persons.

Killed almost instantly was Bobbie Powell, 32, of Texarkana, Charles Allen Bernard, 29, of Ashdown, riding in the Texarkana car, died Sunday in a local hospital.

Tillman McLelland, 29, of Hope driver of a Midwest Dairy truck, escaped injuries.

The auto was traveling east and the truck was coming into Hope. Investigating State Officers Downing and Porterfield said the collision occurred when the Texarkana car went out of control as the driver tried to pull it back on the pavement from the shoulder of the road.

Powell was a native of Texarkana. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at East Funeral Home with burial in Rose Hill Cemetery of Texarkana. He is survived by two sisters and a brother.

Final rites for Bernard will be held at 4 p. m. Monday at Central Baptist Church of Ashdown with burial in Ashdown cemetery. He is survived by his wife, a daughter of Ashdown, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Bernard and two brothers and three sisters, all of Mineral Springs.

Convicts Use Midget to Aid in Burglaries

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Police today blamed a three month series of safe-crackings here on two ex-convicts and a 16-year-old midget they used to gain access to buildings by slipping through small holes.

Officers said statements admitting the safe-crackings were signed last night by Charles Whitsett Jr., 43-pound, 3-foot-3 Poseyville farm youth, and two Evansville men, W. Charles Hale, 39, and Charles E. Bodell, 20.

Detective Sergeants Jess Julian and Jack Weber said the teen-age midget participated in 25 of the 40 safe-crackings which the two men admitted. He "squeezed through small openings cut in ceilings and then opened a door for his bigger partners, the officers said.

Hale and Bodell were to be charged today with one of the safe-crackings, police said. The boy was to be turned over to juvenile authorities.

Police reported they recovered only 300 of an estimated 18,000 taken in the series of safe-crackings that began last December. The burglaries became so common that Mayor J. Vance Hartke canceled leaves and days off for all city policemen.

Emmet Citizens Strive to Improve Community

After the promotion committee of the Emmet Community Improvement Club had listed needed projects to be selected and carried out by the different organizations in 1956, The Emmet F. F. A. Chapter selected as their project the creating of a roadside park for tourists.

The carpentry work was done by F. F. A. members, Travis Whitaker, James Daniels, Larry Paulkner, Tillman Coffey, Stephen Cole, and Troy Whitaker. A sign welcoming tourists was painted by F. F. A. member, Bernay Duggan.

All F. F. A. members assisted in setting up the park. Jessie Higgins, a local farmer, made the land available for the roadside park. The money used in building equipment and setting up the park was made and donated by the Emmet F. F. A. boys.

The Emmet F. F. A. elected to carry out the project for 1956-57.

Worst Blizzard in 30 Years Hits Midwest

By The Associated Press
The worst spring blizzard in 30 years continued to rage in the Midwest today, paralyzing transportation and crippling communications in many sections of eight states.

One major train, carrying 400 passengers, and an estimated 7,000 highway travelers were reported stranded but none were believed in danger.

Four deaths were attributed to the storm.

The train was the Union Pacific's City of St. Louis, westbound from St. Louis to Los Angeles. It was mired in drifts ranging up to 18 feet near Winona, Kan., about 50 miles from the Colorado line. Snowplow were expected to reach it about noon today.

Another train, the Rock Island's eastbound Golden State Limited carrying 92 passengers, was reached by rescue parties early today and all aboard taken to Meade, Kan. The train had been snowbound by drifts up to 15 feet between Meade and Ulnais, Kan., train Sunday. Six coaches of the train were reported covered completely by snow.

The snow halted off in western Kansas and Oklahoma but strong winds still whistled it through the air and piled up noise-high drifts.

It was nothing like the blinding fury of the blizzard which stung southwest Nebraska, eastern Colorado, western Kansas, the Panhandles of Oklahoma and Texas, and the northeast tip of New Mexico over the weekend.

Winds reached 80 miles an hour over the high plains Saturday and Sunday. Drifts up to 20 feet high choked roads and rail lines, leaving thousands marooned along the highways and stranded aboard trains or at the nearest emergency shelter they could find.

By early today Kibberville, Mo., had 10 inches of snow, Omaha 4 and Lincoln 7. In the Midwest, winds were down to 25 and 35 miles an hour. Forecasters predicted eight inches of snow through northern Missouri and southern Iowa today, with blowing and drifting in Iowa.

In the blizzard area highway crews, National Guardsmen and Civil Air Patrol pilots went to work again at dawn seeking out the marooned.

Searchers believed they would find some dead in cars buried under mountainous drifts.

Estimates of stranded travelers in the six states ran as high as 7,500 but most of these had gained shelter when the swirling snow blocked roads and rail lines.

Highway patrols estimated 1,000 stranded or marooned in Colorado, 1,200 in Kansas, 1,000 in Texas and 2,200 in New Mexico.

Two storm-caused deaths were counted in Nebraska, one each in Texas and Kansas.

Ranchers expected livestock losses to be huge.

The heavy, wet snow and powerful wind snapped power lines and poles, leaving many cities without power. Service was being restored slowly. Telephone service was available only where there were underground cables.

Besides the hardship, the storm brought much-needed moisture to the area. At Broken Bow, Neb., it was called a 90 per cent beneficial storm.

Atom Weapon Available to British Army

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower intends to go as far as the law will allow in making atomic warheads for guided missiles accessible for British use in emergencies.

Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan reached a final "agreement in principle" during their talks at Bermuda that "certain guided missiles will be made available by British forces."

This was one of the major results of the conference. Eisenhower returned to Washington yesterday.

The British reportedly are behind the United States in the development of guided missiles and atomic explosives. They lack money for large development programs. In fact, they are now having to reduce their military manpower to have money.

Eisenhower assured Macmillan that the United States would help Britain reduce its forces and at the same time maintain a high level of firepower.

The conference, however, did not say how the British are to get the atomic warheads for weapons they receive from the United States. U. S. law forbids the President to give or lend atomic explosives to any foreign government.

The administration has decided, however, to store atomic warheads in Britain under U. S. control. They could be quickly fired on the missiles provided to the British.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles reportedly believe the President would have the power to turn warheads over to the British quickly in the event of atomic war.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) told a television audience yesterday he thought the British, French, West Germany and perhaps some other "true allies" should be provided now with atomic warheads.

UN Salvage Crew Almost Has Suez Clear

CAIRO (AP) — A U. N. salvage team today raised the sunken tug Edgar Bonnet, the last obstacle to passage of 10,000-ton ships through the Suez Canal.

The 84-ton tug was to be towed away during the next several days but there was no official word yet when Egypt will open the 103-mile waterway to 10,000-ton ships, about 75 per cent of the canal's normal traffic before it was blocked during the invasion last fall.

The 1,461-ton Egyptian frigate Abukir still partially blocks the southern entrance to the canal but the 10,000-tonners can skirt this obstacle, U. N. officials have said. The Abukir should be cleared by April 10 and that the waterway will then be open to all ships that formerly used it.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's mission to Cairo meanwhile, neared its end and indications Egypt would make some concessions on operation of the canal. But the outlook on the disputed Gaza Strip remained dark.

Hammarskjöld flew to the canal to watch the raising of the Bonnet from the bridge of the Dutch tug Atlas. Immediately after the raising, he returned to Cairo to meet again with President Nasser.

Oller of Spring Hill road following an incident at Fulton and 7th in which an auto drive by Oller ran into a ditch, officers said.

George Hamilton reported a bike stolen at the Yerger gymnasium.

L. B. White, Former Publisher, Dies

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — Funeral services were scheduled here today for Lowell Barton White, a well-known Arkansas newspaper publisher, formerly of Missouri. He died yesterday at the age of 84.

Before his retirement in 1953, White published the Benton Courier, largest weekly newspaper in Arkansas, for 47 years. He served as mayor of Benton for 10 years, and is former president of the Arkansas Press association.

He began his career as a printer on a paper published by his father, the late Thomas B. White, at Warsaw, Mo. Later he became associated with Walter Williams, founder of the school of journalism at the University of Missouri.

From 1902 until 1905 he published a weekly newspaper at Fayette, Mo., then came to Arkansas and took over the Times Courier in Benton.

He changed the name of the paper, and through a dynamic promotional campaign, increased its circulation from 500 to 5,600. White is survived by his wife, two sons, a daughter and six grandchildren.

Governor Cites Discrimination of Employees

By BRYCE B. MILLER

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said today that favoritism, discrimination and administrative malfunction within the Highway Department caused the special session of the Arkansas Legislature which was called today being shortly after 11 a. m. today.

In a prepared address to the joint House and Senate, the governor said he approved of the amendment, which caused the stalemate during the regular session of the 61st general assembly.

He said he had examined it closely and found no indication that the proposed amendment to the $104,400,000 highway budget bill provided for postal-to-portals pay.

The governor outlined four specific examples of inequities in force, then said these cases and other similar cases have existed and still exist.

"If these acts of favoritism and administrative malfunction discrimination and administrative had not existed, and had not been known to members of the General Assembly, then the amendments would never have been offered and this special session, to the taxpayers would have been unnecessary," the governor said.

Faubus said, however, that what the department cannot be over-empowered, ineffectiveness, and control of done away with interference with the Mack-Blackwell by "spouting the phrase 'inter-amendment'."

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Members of the 61st Arkansas General Assembly trooped back to Little Rock today to open a special session, called to appropriate money for Gov. Orval Faubus, who delayed the Highway Department.

Gov. Orval Faubus, who delayed calling the legislators back until "agreement" was reached on the highway appropriation bill, was scheduled to address the assembly shortly after the special session convened at 11 a. m.

The governor indicated last night that he might change his "hands off" policy toward the Highway Commission. Both the commission and the highway director, Herbert Eldridge, were targets of legislative criticism during the regular session.

Faubus said some persons "might not like" the things he said.

House Extra Session to Cost $13,770

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The bill to appropriate 104 million dollars for the Highway Department was introduced in the House today shortly after the special session of the Legislature got underway.

The action came after both houses heard Gov. Orval Faubus sharply criticize the Highway Department.

House members immediately started offering amendments to the measure and it was reported that nine amendments would be considered.

"The first amendment would require strict enforcement of the Miltum Act, a 1937 law which directs the Highway Commission to add 900 miles of county roads — 12 miles in each county — to the state highway system."

Gov. Orval Faubus requested the General Assembly to approve the highway bill in the form approved by the Joint Budget Committee last week. The measure was introduced in the form. It was placed on second reading immediately so that the proposed amendments could be considered.

A bill to appropriate $13,770 for expenses of the House for the special session was introduced.

The bills were introduced shortly after Faubus charged that acts of favoritism and discrimination and administrative malfunction have existed in the Highway Department.

CHAIN REACTION

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A chain reaction was started by last Friday's convulsive earthquakes that caused a fire—48 hours later.

Assistant Fire Chief Curtis Kirby said the quake toppled a stack of cartons in the Crown Cork and Seal Co., plant. Unnoticed, the cartons damaged a thermostat and a gas heater became over-heated.

An automatic sprinkler system and the city's alert fire department extinguished the resulting fire in 10 minutes yesterday. Kirby estimated damage at about $2,500.

Meeting Revives Old Agreements

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Most of the statement by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan on what they agreed to at Bermuda—was a collection of banalities. It sounded more tired than vigorous.

For example: They agreed it's good to have military allies. That news. They said they won't in support for the reunification of Germany. No one expected otherwise.

Nor, to continue the example, did they have to go to Bermuda to agree as they said they did, that they sympathize with the Hungarian people; think Russia is repressive; believe all countries should have liberal trade policies; have a common interest in European unity within the Atlantic community.

But they said not a word on the most important, immediate problem facing them: what they will do, individually or together, if Egyptian President Nasser keeps on kicking up his heels.

All they said—without mentioning his name—was to indicate they hope he will comply with United Nations' resolutions for restoring peace to the Middle East.

They may have reached agreements not put into writing. It's doubtful for example: Macmillan has favored a strong hand in dealing with Nasser; Eisenhower has preferred handling him through the U. N.

This Bermuda meeting, which ended Saturday, was intended to patch up the American-British split over the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt. And may be it accomplished just that.

But this meeting, judging from the statement issued after it was over, did not look like a warm or hearty get-together. The two men simply said they were well satisfied with the results of this conference.

would have to say today. "There won't be any attempt to hide the sins of those hiding under the magic mantle of the Mack-Blackwell Amendment," he declared.

The Highway Commission was reorganized under the amendment several years ago, after the measure was adopted by popular vote in an attempt to take the agency out of politics.

Should Faubus limit the special session to consideration of a highway appropriation, the session could be concluded within three days. However, the lawmakers, by a two-thirds vote, could extend the session to consideration of other subjects.

The special session became necessary when the 164-million-dollar highway appropriation was caught in the final hours of the regular session in a battle over a relatively minor amendment to the measure.

The House refused to recede from an amendment providing minimum wages and travel for certain highway employees, and the Senate refused to concur in it.

Some legislators said the crux of contention was the mileage pay provision for employees who work outside their home counties. A compromise bill was agreed to at a meeting of the Joint Budget Committee and the Highway Commission last Thursday.

The proposed substitute was similar to the original measure, and it included the minimum pay provision, while eliminating the provision for mileage pay.

Faubus had said he would not consider calling the special session until such an agreement was reached.

Without the appropriation, the state's highway program would come to a standstill after June 30, since the Highway 11 Department would not be authorized to spend its funds.

News Briefs

MADRID, Spain, (UP)—A delegation of Madrid taxi drivers called at Generalissimo Francisco Franco's El Pardo palace yesterday and presented to his wife, Dona Carmen Franco, a small statue of St. Christopher to help keep her safe while traveling.

Mrs. Franco, who has a fleet of official cars at her disposal and never rides in taxis, warmly thanked the drivers.

The drivers, frequently criticized by the public because their cabs disappear at Siesta time and when it rains, chose a quiet Sunday morning to take their gift, to Spain's first lady.

They have a special devotion to St. Christopher, the patron saint of travelers, and many taxis in this Catholic nation carry St. Christopher medals pinned to the dashboard. Although less famous for reckless driving than their counterparts in Paris and Rome, the Madrid taxi men often lean heavily on St. Christopher for luck.

Half of Madrid's 5,000 taxis are more than 20 years old, but many riders prefer the old cars because they can't go so fast.

VATICAN CITY, (UP)—Pope Pius XII appealed to the world's burning youth yesterday to help build a new Christian world on the ruins accumulated by those who "preferred errors to truth."

The pope addressed 30,000 teenagers from the state secondary school at a mass audience in St. Peter's basilica. He said modern youth is urgently searching for improvement and urged the youngsters to channel their energies into work so the world can be rebuilt in Jesus.

BRIE-COMTE-ROBERT, France, (UP)—Auguste Ibrellisse swallowed more than four gallons of fresh clams in less than an hour yesterday to win a bet of a bottle of champagne.

Then he drank the champagne.

PARIS, (UP)—Fifty employers representing some of France's biggest industrial firms said today that staggered work shifts and other anti-fatigue measures lived by $2.5 billion a year.

YERUSALEM, (UP)—Officials of the Israeli police force said today they have ordered 50 Italian motor scooters to increase mobility of city police patrols and assist them in controlling traffic.

ROTHESAY, Scotland, (UP)—Sailors of the Royal Navy frigate Tergagant said today they kept their ship afloat with mattresses after it was rammed by a tanker Saturday.

The sailors plugged a hole in the side of the ship with mattresses and held them in place with wood planks until the vessel jumped into port.

PARIS, (UP)—Actor-Director Eric Von Stroheim, who is suffering from a crippling spinal ailment at his home here, proudly wore the French Legion of Honor Medal today.

The 61-year-old former film star would barely speak to thank officials who awarded him the medal Saturday. He listened to their speeches with his hand cupped to his ear. He has been in failing health for the past eight months.

In this day of tension, frazzled nerves and mounting psychoses, I've found the most effective therapy for a working wife is a peaceful session in the kitchen, among the pots and pans.

After a day of frantic telephones and frenzied typewriters in the office, cooking is fun. It's a form of relaxation that works better, for me at least, than rushing out to a night club or the movies.

Other busy career women seem to have made the same discovery, among them Mary Merrill, costume designer for TV and Broadway shows, and Mildred Falk Loew, magazine editor and mother of two children. Together they have written a unique prescription for busy women called "The Weekend Cookbook," in itself a reflection of the change in the pattern of American living in recent years.

Since both authors are themselves part of the growing army of working women, and since both like to entertain their friends, they have worked out a system that should make life simpler for millions of their sister toilers, who try to fill the multiple role of business woman, wife, mother and gracious hostess.

More and more the social part of the average family's life is concentrated on weekends. That's the time for fun and good food and seeing ones friends. But women who work in an office all week often find themselves rushing frantically around at the last minute before guests arrive, and then doing a dervish from living room to kitchen, with neither time nor energy to enjoy their friends and take part in the conversation.

Miss Merrill and Mrs. Loew, through long experience in their own homes, have assembled an array of four weekend dinner menus for each season of the year - spring, summer, autumn and winter. These are accompanied by menus for brunches, luncheons, cocktail parties and dessert coffees planned to cover the span of a weekend.

With each menu are recipes and detailed instructions.

Race Attendance Record Climbs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. - Attendance and mutual handle last week continued to exceed figures for the 1956 racing meeting. The 1957 season goes into its fifth and final week today with all-time records in sight. Every racing day of the past week showed increases over corresponding day of the 1956 meeting despite some adverse weather and track conditions. Attendance for the six days totaled 54,746 compared to 49,050 for the fourth week last year, based on unofficial figures. The mutual handle was $3,107,702, as against 2,834,328.

Attendance for the first 25 days totals 217,527 compared to 208,715 a year ago, an increase of more than 4 per cent. The mutual handle for the same period totals $11,825,520, compared to 11,457,028, a gain of more than three per cent.

AFTERMATH - As always the "little people" are the hapless victims of war. The truism is illustrated again in this picture, showing an Arab family returning to its home - what's left of it. That is - in Gaza after United Nations troops took over.

DOROTHY DIX Ma Backs Son-In-Law's Night Out With Boys

Keeping him.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My son-in-law, Barry, is a fine husband, and devoted father of four children. He takes the family out every Sunday and spends most of his spare time home. But once or twice a week he likes to walk over to the neighborhood taproom to talk with some of the neighbors. It's a nice quiet place, no rough stuff, where the men get together to relax.

Sandra, his wife, is constantly accusing him of meeting women there. Sometimes she goes to the taproom and demands that he go home with her.

Now it seems to me that a woman can make a man do something wrong by being so foolishly jealous. She's my daughter, but I think she's making a mistake. Do you think I'm right?

AMANDA F.

Dear Amanda: You're right as rain. The surest way to lose a man is to keep him in a bondage. He may not actually leave her, but almost certainly his love will wane if her present conduct continues.

Nothing on earth is less attractive than a jealous, nagging haridan; if Sandra hasn't reached the point of no return already, she's surely headed there.

Recruit all the people who love her, and have each and every one deliver a pep talk. This may awaken her to the possible tragedy of her position.

A good husband is worth his weight in uranium. Since Sandra is fortunate enough to have one, she should put some effort into

Dear Dorothy Dix: I love my boy friend very much. We do have occasional fights, but always make up. The trouble is that my parents insist on butting in on these spats. When they do, the situation gets worse.

How can I tell them in a nice way to stay out of our quarrels?

MAIZIE

Dear Maizie: The best solution would be to cut out these silly quarrels. If you're old enough for steady dating, you're old enough to handle situations maturely instead of resorting to childish arguments.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a woman of 38 and have been going with a man of 28. He talked me into living with him, which I am now doing. I have two girls, 10 and 12, who must sleep in an unfinished attic, since the house is very small. They complain about it, which I think they have a right to do. Am I right?

P. A. Dear P. A.: When the local welfare authorities learn of the situation, the girls will be removed and your attic will be quite empty. I'm sure sleeping quarters are not the only thing the youngsters com-landscaping committee, who's chairman was Mrs. Basil Munn. The Emmet City in trying to make Emmet a better place to live spent $3,600.38 in 1956 on improving the streets. This street work included resurfacing of the streets, hauling gravel where it was needed, and also the removing of trees and brush from sides of streets where it was considered to be hazardous to driving.

In 1956, to aid in employment of local people, the Hickey Brothers, operators of a service station, garage, bus depot, and cafe, began operating a fleet of gravel trucks. This trucking operation employs six local men as drivers and one man as mechanic for repair work.

Emmet is primarily an agriculture area and therefore needs an outlet for various products. F. G. Stinnett, a local service station operator, has found a lucrative way to aid the local farmers in selling their farm products. During 1956, Mr. Stinnett sold 3,000 pounds of peaches, 3,000 watermelons, 300 bushels of apples, and 400 bushels of peaches to tourist passing through town. The Emmet Community Improvement Club's next meeting will be a fish fry, Thursday night, March 28, 1957 at Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company clubhouse. Joe B. Youmans was rural mail carrier in Emmet when he became interested in gardening and the growing of bulbs. As a rural mail carrier, he found that he had some idle time and began to garden as a hobby.

For a few years, Mr. Youmans did general flower gardening to beautify the home place, and among other flowers grown were two species of bearded iris, the early blooming white and purple iris. Admiring these bearded iris and finding that they did well here, Mr. Youmans found that there were a hundred of name varieties of this plant grown in this country, and he began to buy quantities of them.

In the course of two or three years, Mr. Youmans assembled in his garden some six to seven hundred different kinds of bearded iris.

During this time, Mr. Youmans joined the American Iris Society and the National Horticultural Society, and as a member of these societies, he had the privilege of using their libraries.

On studying the iris genus, Mr. Youmans found that there were three more types of iris the beardless, the bulb, and the crested, and upon learning this, he began to buy and grow these different types of iris to add to his collection.

During the years prior to 1956, Mr. Youmans continued to grow, experiment, and develop his garden which had gradually changed from just a hobby into a commercial venture with people from all areas coming to view the garden and purchase bulbs and flowers. Then in 1956, Mr. Youmans moved his garden consists of iris, hemerocallis, and bulbs from the old location to the present location (Highway West of Emmet, Ark.) As the Youmans had gone into the commercial aspect of gardening, they felt that they would have a better chance of success in the new location.

The Youmans are going to experiment with a wide variety of plants and hope within the next two years to have a garden that will draw flower loving people from the surrounding areas.

VERY HELPFUL

WASHINGTON, (UP) - Candor on Capitol Hill.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) said on a TV program last night the Congress probably will cut taxes next year.

"Does Congress always save the tax cuts for election years?" a questioner asked.

"No, but it is very helpful," replied Bridges.

New Zealanders consume an annual average of 216 pounds of meat per person, as compared to 161 pounds per person in the United States.

East Team Is Favored in All-Star Play

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The East coached by Frank McGuire of North Carolina's new NCAA champions and boasting a galaxy of great scorers, is favored to win the 6th annual East-West All-Star basketball game in Municipal Auditorium tonight.

McGuire's squad will include such cage hands as his own All-American, Lemmie Rosenbluth; Grady Wallace of South Carolina who topped the nation's scorers with 806 points in regular season play; big Charley Tyra of Louisville University who scored 555 points; Jim Ashmore of Mississippi State, 708 and Joe Gubbons of Mississippi University, 631.

Rosenbluth scored 791 points in the Tar Heels' season of 32 straight victories. The West, coached by Bill Stranigan of Iowa State, has won four of the five games played for benefit of the Shriners' Hospitals for crippled children. For the first time the West is the underdog. Stranigan is expected to count heavily on the generalship of 6-foot-10-inch Gary Thompson, who led Iowa State into third place in the Big Seven conference after the past season. An All-American, Thompson is considered one of the greatest little players ever developed in the midlands.

Bradley Scores Victory Over Memphis State

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK (AP) — If Bradley isn't among the top-flight college teams next season, a lot of basketball experts will be surprised. The Braves from Peoria, Ill., won the championship of the 20th annual National Invitation tournament Saturday by nipping "dark horse" Memphis State 64-63 on Shellee McMillon's three-point play in the last 20 seconds.

Off the form they displayed in their three tourney games against Xavier of Ohio, Temple and Memphis State it is somewhat of a mystery how the Braves lost four of their last Missouri Valley Conference games to St. Louis, Houston, Wichita and Oklahoma A&M.

Since their entire squad, including such stars as 6-7 Barney Cable, the 6-6 McMillon, 6-2 Bobby Joe Mason, 6-0 Joe McDade and 6-8 Gene Morse will be back, the Braves must be favored to win the conference title next year. Mason, a skinny sophomore who figures to be even better next season, teamed with McMillon and Cable to bring the Braves their first NIT title. Between them they scored 57 points. Mason with 22, McMillon 18 and Cable 17.

With the score tied at 77-77, Dick Dhabat got four of his eight points. Then with a set shot and two free throws he made it 81-77 and set the stage for the closing fireworks.

Little 5-9 Jack Butler, "the giant killer" for Memphis State, almost stole the game for the Tennessee underdogs at this point. He sank a jump shot and followed with a pass to Ron Ragan for a layoff that tied the score. With 65 seconds left he dribbled in for the basket that apparently won the game.

But midnight struck for the balliant Memphis Cinderellas when McMillon came up with his basket and free throw, and Bob Swander missed a jump shot in the last five seconds.

Win Wilfong, who scored 31 points for Memphis State, was named the tourney's most valuable player. Temple whipped St. Bonaventure 67-50 to take third place.

Friend of California, Gene Elstun of Kansas and Calvin Grosscup of Tulane also figured prominently in the West quad.

The game starts at 9 o'clock.

Birmingham Bowler Has Highest Score

MEMPHIS (AP) — Two of the first five places in the Southern Handicap Bowling meet went to Willard Bagwell of Birmingham, Ala.

About 2,000 bowlers from 15 states took part in the event, with the fifth and final weekend of competition ending yesterday.

Bagwell won both the singles championship and the All Events Handicap.

A Hot Springs pair won second place in the doubles, a Pine Bluff outfit finished fourth in the same event and a Little Rock man was among the leaders in the All Events Handicap.

Playing before a jam-packed crowd of 10,500, most of them pro-Kansas, Coach Jack McGuire's Tar Heels stretched their one-season all-victory record to 32 games.

A night earlier they had gone three extra five-minute sessions in beating Michigan State 74-70 in the semi-finals.

The final games of the NCAA's 19th tournament was a championship test between teams rated No. 1 and No. 2 in the Associated Press poll of sportswriters and sportscasters. And it finished according to the script.

A brief scuffle in the second overtime involving two, or three players and both coaches enlivened the proceedings.

The title was decided with six seconds remaining in the third overtime when Joe Quigg, a 6-foot-junior from Brooklyn, N. Y.,

Recreation Area Projected at Mena

MENTA, Ark. — The tourist potential for newly created White Mountain State Park in this Ouachita mountain area is unsurpassed, Gov. Orval Faubus told a dedication meeting of more than 300 persons here yesterday.

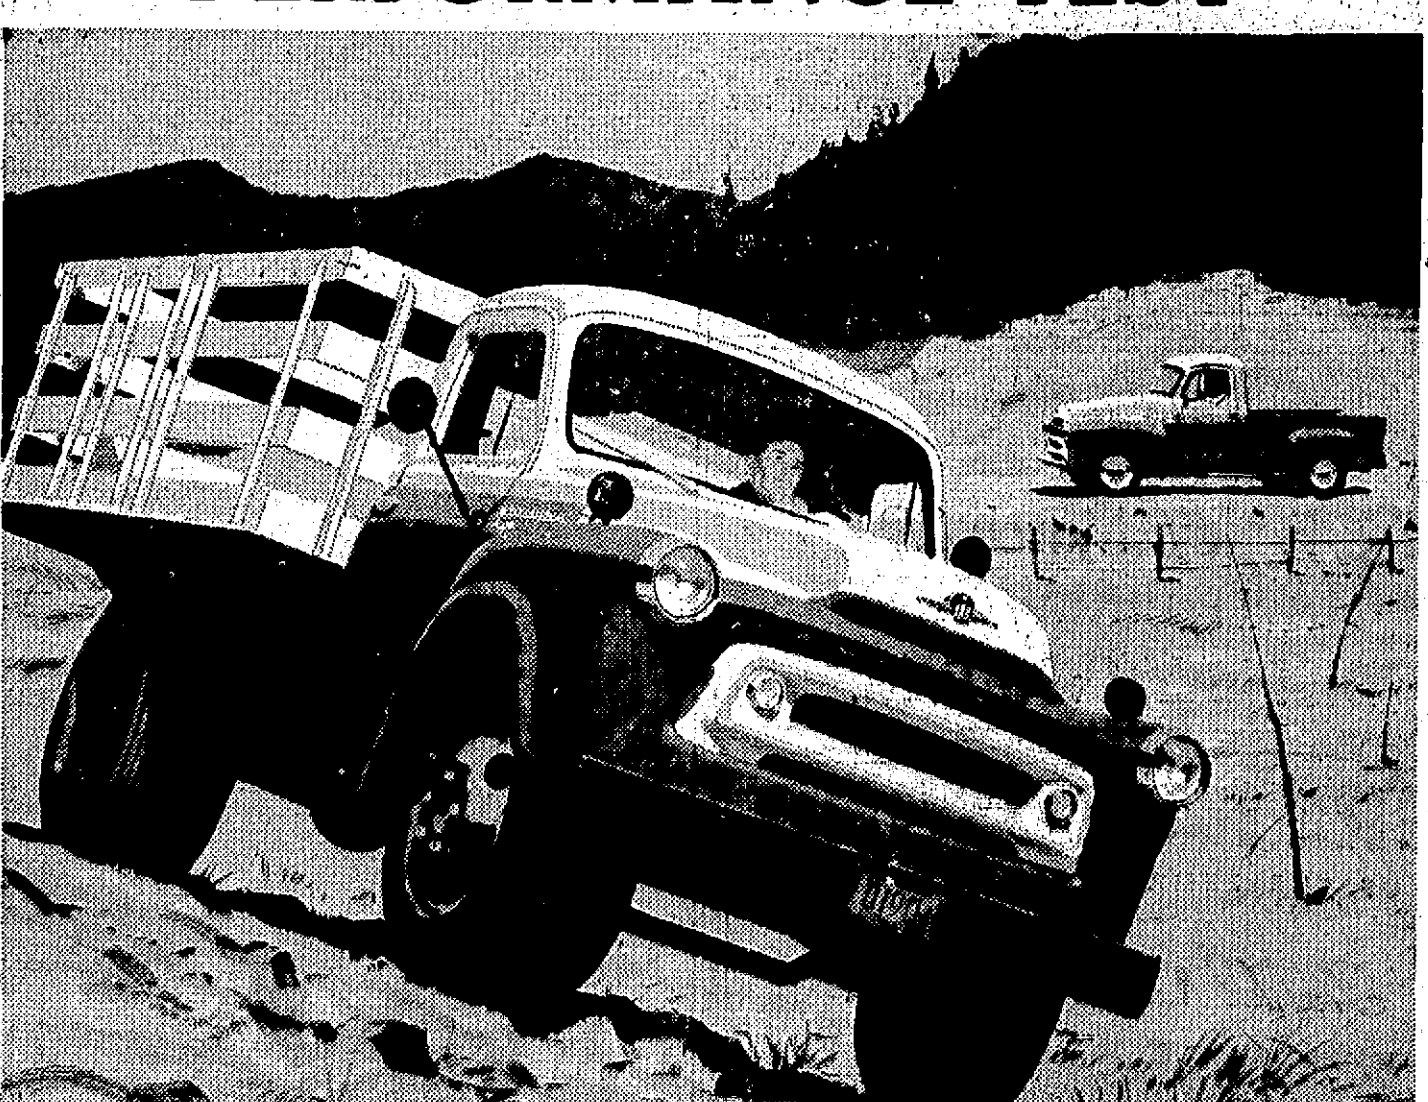

W. N. Deramus of Kansas City, president of the Kansas City Southern Railroad, whose main line serves west Arkansas, said that enormous future expansion plan eventually would necessitate major highways to handle traffic in this area.

John C. Sheffield of Helena, chairman of the state Publicity and Parks Commission, said the recently passed bill providing $70,000 for the park here was just a drop in the bucket compared to eventual requirements.

Billon, who had drawn his pistol, stepped over the new comer, and out into the sun. It was too much for Allan's curiosity, and he shouted over his shoulder at Mollie to keep back, he leaped over the fallen man, and took his sta-

Living in Debt Is American Way of Life

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—That living in debt is a way of life for an increasing number of Americans is official today. A government agency study group says so. And it thinks the habit will go on spreading.

This may not surprise the millions who together have 31½ billion dollars more to pay on such things as autos, furniture, home appliances and travel, and the hordes who added about 15 billion dollars to the nation's outstanding mortgage debt total last year.

This way of life is most prevalent among younger families and among those with incomes in the middle brackets. The study group is the statistical staff of the Federal Reserve Board, which had been asked to report on installment credit to President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers. It finds that buying goods and services on the cuff and making payments on a house over many years has become widely respectable, especially since World War II.

Families have been putting an average of 11 per cent of their spendable income into installment buying in the last two years, the group reports. It thinks this will gradually rise to 13 or 14 per cent by 1965.

Most families pay little attention to how much more this costs them in interest rates and carrying charges. The controlling concern is how much the monthly payments will be and if the family income will cover them.

For example, the average monthly payment on new cars has stayed around $50 in recent years. The rise in total auto financing has come in addition to the number sold, in the lengthening of the period of payment. This has let installment buyers take on higher priced models.

The Federal Reserve group figures that monthly payment terms on autos and appliances have been lowered just about as far as they can be, so it thinks most of the future rise in the total of installment debt will come from the new and growing invasion of the consumer credit field by the financiers of travel, vacations and services, and by the increased emphasis on it by department and other retail stores.

Disneyland Constantly Being Improved

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—That restless creator, Walt Disney, isn't resting on his laurels at Disneyland. He has millions of dollars' worth of new features for the fabulous park on his drawing boards.

Walt gave me a preview of his ambitious plans at his Burbank studios. He showed models and sketches of such features as Liberty Square, reproductions of the Republic I'm trying to interest big companies to sponsor it, before.

Disneyland already is a vastly successful enterprise. So the wonder is, why add to success? I asked Disney what would happen if he left the park as is. You sound like my bankers, he laughed.
